Since 1965, Kentucky Ancestors has preserved the heritage of our forebears through the publication of records and research concerning early Kentucky families. Recognizing the importance of this area of our history, the Society has provided Ancestors to its thousands of members across the nation and beyond who unfailingly contribute to and support the genealogical quarterly.

You are cordially invited to join the Society and aid us in the continued pursuit of Kentucky ancestors. As a member, you can participate in the preservation of your own Kentucky family history by submitting information about and photographs of your ancestors. Membership is open to anyone interested in the history of Kentucky. To join, please contact:

on the cover: Kempis Lee Alvey and Nannie Agnita Carrico on their wedding day, February 5, 1918, in Louisville. Kempis was employed by Standard Sanitary Manufacturing, where he was killed in an industrial accident on June 11. The couple's son, Kempis Lee Alvey Jr., was born four months after his father's death. Part three of the article, "The Alvey Family of England, Maryland, and Kentucky," begins on page 14.
In its 38-year history, Kentucky Ancestors has had two basic cover designs. The first, which debuted in July 1965 (as shown above left), featured photographs and maps.

With this Volume 39, Number 1 issue, Kentucky Ancestors debuts its third design, an updated version of the original that allows for greater opportunities to display KHS’s extensive collection of maps and photographs.

The new, two-color Kentucky Ancestors incorporates the latest trends in design while making maximum use of available space. It also conforms to the society’s new graphic identity that is currently being implemented.

The Spring, Summer, Autumn, and Winter issues of each volume will rotate in the corresponding colors of red, green, gold, and blue.

We are proud of this new Kentucky Ancestors and hope you enjoy it. If you have any questions, suggestions, or submissions, please contact me (502) 564-1792 or via e-mail at: Tom.Stephens@ky.gov.

The Baugh Family: Virginia to Kentucky, via South Carolina

By Ivan W. Baugh

Mr. Baugh lives in Louisville and may be reached via email at iwbaugh@insightbb.com.

I began my genealogical research in a conversation with my father, Paul Baugh. He remembered family members discussing three brothers coming to Kentucky through the Cumberland Gap. According to the story, two brothers remained in Kentucky and the third one went to Texas. Using this as a starting point, I have researched the family’s travels for more than 40 years.

Correspondence with my grandfather’s sister, Sally Baugh Koch, gave me a complete list of her brothers and sisters in birth order. Her parents were William Green Baugh and Alice Kelly and Jim and Nancy Baugh were her paternal grandparents.1

After his store in Rochester, Butler County, burned in 1913, my grandfather John David Baugh moved from there to Shively, a suburb of Louisville, in 1916. He operated Baugh Dairy there until his death in 1931.2

Census records helped me learn about Baugh families in counties adjacent to Butler County. From this information, I searched deeds in Logan County, where I found James M. Baugh selling land and the names of those I later confirmed to be his daughters also listed.3 Continued research led me to James’ father, Samuel Baugh.4

Kentucky census records showed John Baugh and Samuel Baugh of Logan County were both born in Virginia. I found a War of 1812 pension application for Samuel Baugh, indicating that he was enlisted in the South Carolina Militia under Captain Key at Edgefield, S.C.5

This raised a big question: why did he serve from South Carolina when he had been born in Virginia? After many years of research, I believe I have an answer. John Baugh of Logan County had a son named Daniel. Daniel’s family Bible lists John Baugh as a son of James Baugh of Virginia.6

Research at the Library of Virginia produced Chesterfield County Chancery Court records for James Baugh (b. 2 December 1740) that list the following:

“James Baugh, Moses Baugh, John Baugh, Solomon Baugh, Jesse Gill and Frances, his wife, formerly Frances Baugh, Philip Vest Jr. and Mary, his wife, formerly Baugh, William Hatchett and Tabitha, his wife, formerly Baugh, John Jackson and Sally, his wife, formerly Baugh, Thomas Hatchett and Nancy, his wife, formerly Baugh, and Elizabeth Baugh, in their proper persons, and Samuel Baugh, Rebecca Thomas Baugh, and John and Arthur Baugh, infant children of Daniel Baugh, deceased….”7

James Baugh was fatally shot on 1 August 1810 and the final distribution of his estate occurred in 1812.8

It appears that James, the oldest son, and Samuel left for South Carolina after the distribution of the proceeds of the estate, since Samuel paid personal property tax in Chesterfield County in, but not after, 1811.9

Chesterfield County marriage records list a John Baugh marrying a Sally Rofret in 1793. John would have been 20 years of age at the time. They were married by Rev. Eleazar Clay, the same minister who had married John’s sisters, Mary, Frances, Tabitha, Sarah, Nancy, and Elizabeth. After that record, I found nothing relative to the family. I wonder if Sally died.

William Baugh, oldest son of James Baugh III (b. about 1710) and uncle of James Baugh IV (b. 2 December 1740), moved to Laurens, S.C. He acquired land there in 1767 and received a land grant on 15 July 1768 on the South Fork of the Reedy River.

John, brother of James V. and Samuel, evidently had gone to South Carolina before 1807, as he was married there and his first child, Moses, was born there on 5 January 1807. John settled in Edgefield County, which included the land now in Greenwood, Saluda, and Aiken counties. Present-day Greenwood County shares a boundary with Laurens County and Saluda shares a line with Greenwood and Edgefield. The 1810 census lists John Baugh as a white male in the 26-44 group. Also in the household were two free white males under 10, and a white female in the 16-25 range. This corresponds appropriately with the Bible record of John and Elizabeth Baugh.

Another uncle, Daniel Baugh, bought land in Edgefield District on 31 October 1797 and is listed there in the 1800 census. On 11 January 1808, this same Daniel Baugh bought land in Putnam County, Ga., about 50 miles west-southwest of Edgefield. Research by Monte Knight shows that he died before 4 Nov 1816, the date his will was probated. This relationship may have special significance because three of Daniel’s children—James, Elizabeth (who married Abram North), and Susanna (who married Barnett Beasley)—died in Williamson County, Tenn. Williamson County, Tenn. (Franklin is the county seat) is immediately south of Davidson County, Tenn., where Nashville is the county seat.

Another possible reason for the brothers to visit Nashville was that their sister, Nancy, who married Thomas Hatchett, appeared in Davidson County in the 1830 census. While searching the War of 1812 pension records, I found that their brother Solomon Baugh and brothers-in-law Philip Vest, Jesse Gill, William Hatchett, Thomas Hatchett, and Henry Vest all served in the 23rd Virginia Regiment. I know that the above named Bartlett Baugh family was in Davidson County in 1817 as they have a son born there on 6 February 1817. Perhaps Nancy and Thomas Hatchett came from Virginia with Bartlett Baugh (b. 11 July 1774, Va.) This is a subject for further investigation.

Either Nancy Baugh Hatchett and/or the children of Uncle Daniel Baugh could have influenced the route the Baughs traveled from South Carolina to Kentucky.

Genealogist M.D. Palmer concluded that they traveled north from South Carolina to Knoxville before turning west to Nashville. Either or both could be the case. Further research may answer the question, though this author tends to believe that the Nancy Baugh may be the primary reason for the route.

The 1850 census records show us that the four oldest children of John and Elizabeth Baugh—Moses, Bartlett, Lavina, and John—were born in South Carolina. The 1850 census lists Elizabeth Baugh, his wife, as having been born in South Carolina. Palmer wrote that Van Allen Baugh, son of John, was born in the Nashville, Tenn., area on 2 July 1817. The 1850 census records also list him as having been born in Tennessee. Samuel Baugh’s first child, Susan, was born 28 September 1817. Research indicates that Susan was born in Kentucky.

From that information, I surmise that the family arrived in Logan County, Ky., between July 1817 and September 1817. Samuel and John first appeared on a Logan County tax list in 1819, listed in that order. I wonder if the families traveling from South Carolina to Kentucky visited their cousins in Williamson County, Tenn.—the children of their uncle Daniel Baugh—during the trip.

Samuel paid personal property taxes for the first time in Chesterfield County, Va., in 1811. He does not appear in tax records after that date. According to his War of 1812 pension application, Baugh enlisted for service in Captain Keys Company of the South Carolina Militia in the Edgefield District on 10 December 1813. He was discharged on 15 March 1814. The application indicates that he married Elizabeth Williams in March 1815. Census records indicate that she was born in Virginia.

Following the 1850 census, Bartlett Baugh and John Baugh (sons of John and Elizabeth Baugh), grew to Linn County, Kan. I have copies of an 1858 to Lavina Baugh McPherson from her brother, Bartlett Baugh from Linn County, Kan., that states that John (their brother) has gone to Texas to see his uncle. I believe this to be James Baugh (V), eldest son of James Baugh (IV) (b. 2 April 1740), who died in 1810 in Chesterfield County, Va.

Considering the above information, I conclude that John Baugh and Samuel Baugh were the two brothers who remained in Kentucky. Information posted on a genealogy forum, states that James (V), the son of James (IV), went to Texas from Logan County, Ky. Some conversations I have had lead me to wonder if he lived in the Dumas, Texas, area.
However, I have not been able to document this. I do know that in the 1960s there were Baugh families living in that area of Texas.

From French Huguenots to Kentuckians: A deJarnat/Rice Line

By Dr. John M. Bell

Mr. Bell’s “Matthew Rogers and His Kentucky Descendants” appeared in Volume 37, Number 3 in 2002. He can be contacted at BellBunch@satx.rr.com

In 1700, four ships—“Ye Peter and Ye Anthony,” “Mary Anne,” “Nassau,” and one unknown—set sail from an English port. Aboard them were more than 500 French Huguenot emigrants, some French born and living in England and others born in England of French heritage, bound for new lives in America. The group was led by the Marquis de la Muce, who was accompanied by three ministers—Claude Philippe de Richebourg, Benjamin de Joux, and Louis Latane.

Among the group was a young Frenchman by the name of Jean deJarnat, who was born about 1680, and is presumed to have lived in England for a time prior to emigrating. The name “deJarnat” is assumed to be of noble origin. According to St. Alais in Nobiliaire Universal DeFrance, the name Jarno de Jarnieu, Jarnaud, or Jarneot can be traced back to the 15th century when Jean deJarno acquired the land of the Seguiniere. Antoine deJarno or Jarnaud received the order of Saint-Jean of Jerusalem in 1544, thus acquiring nobility. The family’s coat of arms contained three silver swans’ heads and necks on a field of blue; the crest was a swan’s head and neck in silver, flanked by a swan’s wings. The family motto was “My Hope is God.”

Roots

Intending to create a French-style village in the Norfolk area of Virginia, the new settlers moved up the James River and most eventually settled west of present-day Richmond on the south bank of the James. This area, King William Parish in Goochland County (later Cumberland County, now Powhatan County), had been home to the Manakin Indians.

First Generation

Once in Virginia, deJarnat’s surname was written in various ways—including Dejurnat, Dejernat, DeJurner, DeJarnette, deJarnat, and DeJurer—depending on the way it sounded to those who transcribed it. Likewise, the name Jean was often anglicized to John. Based on the dates of his children’s births, Jean probably married Mary Mumford about 1703. Mary (b. 1683, Abingdon Parish, Gloucester County, Va.) was a daughter of Edward Mumford and Mary Watkins. Jean and Mary’s known children were Elias (baptized 20 August 1704), John (baptized 4 November 1706), Mary (baptized 5 February 1708), Elizabeth (b. 1709), Daniel (baptized 24 January 1713), Joseph (baptized 3 February 1716), and Ellenor (b. 5 September, baptized 20 November 1720). According to the Legislative Journals of the Council of Colonial Virginia, on 18 April 1705, Jean deJarnat petitioned for naturalization at the General Assembly meeting at the Royal College of William and Mary in Williamsburg. The petition was referred to the House of Burgesses for consideration. Jean died presumably in Gloucester County. Tradition has it that Mary moved with her daughter Eleanor and son-in-law Jacob McGehee, to Prince Edward County, where she died in 1765.

Mary’s will reads:

In the Name of God Amen. I Mary Dejarnot of the parish of St. Patrick, and County of Prince Edward. Widow: being in perfect judgment & memory. (Thanks to Almighty God) Do make this my Last will and Testament in manner & form following. Imprimis. I recommend my Soul to Almighty God who gave it in sure & certain hope of a Blessed Resurrection from the Dead, and my Body to the Ground to be buried in a Decent & Christian-like manner by my hereafter named Executors. & as to my personal Estate I dispose of it and bequeath it in manner & form following: Item I do give to my Son in Law Jacob McGehee and his Heirs for ever my Feather Bed with the whole furniture & Bed Stead as likewise whatever belongs to me after my Decease – and I do hereby constitute and appoint the same Jacob McGehee my Son in Law my Sole Executor of this my Last will & Testament.

Second Generation

Elias DeJarnette/Dejarnet, a son of Jean and Mary (Mumford) deJarnat, was probably born in 1704 in Gloucester County, Va., and was baptized there on 20 August 1704. He married Elizabeth ____ and lived in Amelia (later Prince Edward County). According to his will, dated 9 August 1768 and proved 18 July 1769 in Prince Edward County, he and Elizabeth had five children: Ann Rebecca “Annaka,” Elias, Marymiah (m. John Hinds), John Thomas, and Thomas.6

Third Generation

Thomas DeJarnett, a son of Elias and Elizabeth Dejarnat, married Nancy _____. Land records of Halifax County, Va., show that he was a resident there until about 1788. By 1800, he had relocated to Henry County, Ky., and owned land on Eighteen Mile Creek. In 1807 DeJarnett purchased land in the town of Westport, later part of Oldham County, on the Ohio River. Thomas and Nancy had seven children: John (m. Sarah Coon, 21 July 1801, Henry County), Byrd Nicholas (b. 14 November 1789, Va., d. 12 November 1839, Tenn.), Elias, Milly, Mary, Harriett, and Elizabeth.7

Fourth Generation

Elias DeJarnett, a son of Thomas and Nancy Dejarnet, married Jennie Stephens on 1 May 1808 in Henry County.8 Jennie, perhaps also known as Jane, was born about 1792 in Kentucky to William Stephens. Elias’ name appears on several land deeds in Henry County and the “County of Cape Jerido (Cape Girardeau) and Commonwealth of Monsira (Missouri).” Elias’ 1832 will in Oldham County listed 10 children. Jennie was living with several daughters in 1850 in Oldham County. Elias and Jennie’s children were Rebecca, Ann (b. about 1810, Ky., m. William Moffatt), Louisa (b. about 1813, Ky., m. Peter Stevens), Lucy (b. about 1816, Ky., m. William Jackson Buchanon), Susan (b. about 1818, Ky., m. Nathan Wooden), William (b. about 1815, Ky., m. Elizabeth Williams Sutton), Samuel Harvey (d. after 1832 but before 1846), Nancy Jane (b. about 1823, Ky.), Minerva (b. about 1830, Ky., m. John M. Tucker), and Melissa (b. about 1830, Ky., m. ____ Tucker?).9

Fifth Generation

Rebecca DeJarnette (b. about 1808, Ky.), a daughter of Elias Dejarnat and Jennie Stephens, married Samuel Parks (b. about 1808, S.C.) on 30 December 1828 in Oldham County. Samuel was listed as a cooper living in Oldham County in 1850. Rebecca and Samuel had at least six children, all presumably born in Kentucky: Margaret (b. about 1829), Albert W. (b. about 1835), Zacharisa, A____ S____ (daughter, b. about 1839), F____ M____ (son, b. about 1841), and L____ W____ (son, b. about 1849).9

Ann DeJarnet (b. about 1810, Ky.), a daughter of Elias Dejarnat and Jennie Stephens, married William Moffatt around 1830.10 In 1850, she was living with him and their six children in Oldham County. The children were James (b. about 1830), William (b. about 1833), Lucy (b. about 1838), John (b. about 1842), and Elizabeth (b. about 1849).

Louisa Dejarnet (b. about 1813, Ky.), a daughter of Elias Dejarnat and Jennie Stephens, married Peter Stevens on 14 March 1837 in Oldham County. In 1850, she was living with her mother and several sisters in Oldham County.11

Lucy Dejarnet (b. about 1816, Ky.), a daughter of Elias Dejarnat and Jennie Stephens, married William Jackson Buchanon in Oldham County. She was living with her mother and several sisters in Oldham County in 1850.12 The couple had two children, a son who died in 1852 and a daughter, Annetta DeJarnett Buchannon (b. 2 September 1857, Oldham County).

Susan Dejarnet (b. about 1818, Ky.), a daughter of Elias Dejarnat and Jennie Stephens, married Nathan Wooden on 7 December 1839 in Oldham County.13 In 1850, she was living with her son Elias (b. about 1840, Oldham County). William Dejarnet was born about 1815 in Kentucky. He married Elizabeth (Williams) Sutton in Oldham County. They were living in Oldham County in 1850 with their four children: George
(b. about 1839), William O. (b. about 1843), Alice L. (b. about 1845), and Zakhariah (b. about 1849). They later had another child, Jane (b. 20 November 1857, d. 4 September 1858, Oldham County).

Samuel Harvey Dejarnat died after 1832 but before 1846.14

Nancy Jane Dejarnat was born about 1823 in Kentucky. She was living with her mother, Jane, and several sisters in Oldham County, KY, in 1850.15

Minerva Dejarnat was born about 1830 in Kentucky.16 She married John M. Tucker on 17 February 1846 in Oldham County. She was living with her mother, Jane, and several sisters in Oldham County, KY, in 1850. An Amos Tucker (b. about 1848, Ky.) was also listed in the family.

Melissa Dejarnat was born about 1830 in Kentucky. In the 1850 census, she was listed with the surname Tucker, but was living with her mother and several sisters in Oldham County.17

Sixth Generation

Zacharisa Parks (b. 30 January 1837, Oldham or Henry Counties), a daughter of Samuel and Rebecca (Dejarnatt) Parks. Records and family remembrances also refer to her as “Sacka,” “Sarissa,” and “Clarissa.” Zacharisa married Jesse Rice (b. 17 January 1815, Henry County, d. 1902 or 1903?) by 1860.18

Jesse Rice was a grandson of Henry County pioneers William Rice (b. about 1764) and Mary ____ (b. about 1768) and a son of Jonathan B. Rice (b. 30 April 1790) and Rebecca Reynolds.19 Jonathan and Rebecca had at least eleven children, including Jesse. Although Jonathan and his family migrated to Indiana and Illinois, Jesse apparently returned to Henry County, where he married Zacharisa.

In 1870, Jesse and Zacharisa and their family were living in Oldham County, but were in Trimble County by 1880, where Jesse’s occupation was listed as farmer. Jesse may have died in 1902 or 1903. Zacharisa was living with her son Henry and his family in Jefferson County in 1920. Her grandson, Marvin, who lived with her at the time, remembered her repeating old stories from her past. One in particular was when her family visited Missouri. She saw a man walking across the plains toward their wagon; when he approached, he asked for a drink of water, which she gave him; then he continued on his way. Zacharisa died at age 95 on 22 February 1932 in the Camp Taylor community of Jefferson County. She was buried at Evergreen Cemetery there.

Zacharisa and Jesse had 14 children, 11 of whose names are known: Elizabeth “Betty”/Minervia E. (b. about 1858, m. Jim Perks),20 Mary Ellen “Molly” (b. about 1860-61, Ky., m. Lou Robberson),21 Annie E. Rice (b. 1862-3, Ky., d. 18 October 1918, Madison, Ind., m. Clarence Marris),22 Alice (b. about 1864, Ky., m. Jim Sparger),23 and Isabelle (b. about 1865, Ky., m. ____ Marshel),24 Willie Rice (b. about 1867-68, Ky.), m. ____ Webb),25 Sanford (b. about 1869, Ky.),26 Robert “Bob” Rice (d. age 21),27 Ida (b. about 1872, Ky., m. Dave Biggers),28 Adaline (b. 7 April 1874, Oldham County),29 and Henry Augusta (b. 19 June 1878, Oldham County, d. 31 January 1957, m. Jessie Edds).30

Seventh Generation

Henry Augusta Rice (b. 19 June 1878, Oldham County), a son of Jesse Rice and Zacharisa Parks, left home at age 16. He met Jessie Edds, a daughter of Charlie Middleton and Nancy Ellen (Hensley) Edds, at the Eighteen Mile Baptist Church, on Westport Road in Oldham County. The couple did most of their courting there. They married on 26 August 1902 at the Oldham County Courthouse.

In 1920, the family was living on Preston Street

Pike in Louisville. Henry was a laborer in a cooper shop and Jessie was a laborer in a tobacco factory. Henry was also said to be a trader. According to his son Marvin, he would make quite a bit of money in his trades, but would quickly lose the money by drinking. He later worked for 20 years as a blacksmith for the L&N Railroad before retiring. Jessie Edds Rice was a charter member of Bethlehem Baptist Church in Louisville. She was also a member of Banner Council No. 7 of the Daughters of America. Henry died on 31 January 1957 in Louisville. Jessie died of pneumonia on 19 March 1969 in Louisville. They are both buried in Resthaven Cemetery, Louisville.

Henry and Jessie had two children, Marvin Ray and Henrietta Ellen.

Eighth Generation

Marvin Ray Rice, son of Henry and Jessie (Edds) Rice, was born 29 August 1911 in Oldham County, KY. He was named after Marvin Hart (1876-1931), boxing’s heavyweight champion of the world in 1905-6 and a personal friend of Henry Rice.

Marvin was grew up in the Okolona area of Jefferson County, living first in a log cabin a couple of hundred yards west of Old Shepherdsville Road off Big Ditch Creek. The family lived in several other houses before settling into a house on Vim Drive around the time Marvin was 10 years old. Marvin’s memories included picking strawberries at the rate of $1 for 20 bushels. Marvin married Ruth A. Tucker, but the couple divorced after having two children. He later married Martha Elizabeth Sell (b. 30 May 1912, Belleville, Ill.) on 13 April 1940.

Marvin began working for the L&N Railroad in the late 1920s. He was laid off for a year during the Depression, but found work for a year as a Yellow Cab driver. Rehired by L&N, he retired in 1974 as a head machinist, having worked 45 years for the company. He was a member of the International Association of Machinists union and a lifelong Democrat.

Martha died on 15 June 1993 in Louisville and was buried at Resthaven Memorial Park. Ruth (Tucker) Rice Karnish died on 19 September 1995 in Louisville and was buried at Louisville Memorial Gardens West. Marvin died on 7 March 2004 in Louisville and was buried in Resthaven Memorial Park.

Henrietta Ellen Rice, daughter of Henry and Jessie (Edds) Rice, was born 6 November 1915 in Oldham County. She married George Fegenbush on 17 August 1935, and the couple had four sons. George Fegenbush abandoned the family and was found years later living in Florida with another family. Henrietta was a production employee for Brown & Williamson Tobacco Co. and a member of Bethlehem Baptist Church. She remarried twice, first to Al Lawrence on 1 March 1958, then to Pete Sanders from 1968 to 1975. These marriages ended in divorce. Henrietta died on 5 June 1986 in Louisville and was buried in Resthaven Memorial Park.

Oldham County formed in 1823, named for militia colonel

Oldham County was established by the state legislature in 1823 and its land taken from portions of Jefferson, Shelby, and Henry counties. It was named for Colonel William Oldham, who was killed at St. Clair’s Defeat in 1791. The site of LaGrange, the county seat, was donated by Major William Berry Taylor in 1827. Westport served as county seat from 1823 to 1827 and 1828 to 1838.
Some Germans from Jefferson County, Kentucky, Who Served in the Union Army During the Civil War

Compiled by Joseph R. Reinhart

Part Two

Approximately 2,000 German-born Kentucky residents served in Union regiments during the Civil War and at least 1,200 of these men came from Louisville and Jefferson County. The regiments containing the greatest number of Germans from Jefferson County were the 4th Kentucky Volunteer Cavalry Regiment, 5th, 6th, 22nd, 28th and 34th Kentucky Volunteer Infantry Regiments and the Louisville Provost Guard. The following listing identifies some Louisville Germans who served in the 6th Kentucky Volunteer Infantry. Their unit served in Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama, and Georgia, and suffered 95 men killed or mortally wounded in battle and 82 dead from diseases. Mr. Reinhart is author of A History of the 6th Kentucky Volunteer Infantry U.S.: The Boys Who Feared No Noise. Part One appeared in Volume 38, Number 2.

The Alvey Family of England, Maryland, and Kentucky
Jesse Alvey and his descendants

By Robert Lee Alvey Sr.

Part Three

Parts One and Two of this series brought the Alvey family forward in time from Generation One (Arthur Alvey in England about 1550) to Henry Alvey, grandson of Jesse Alvey of St. Mary's County, Md., and his children through Generation Nine. Because of the many children of Henry and his three wives, Generation 10 for Henry Alvey's descendants will be presented in future articles. This article will take Henry's sister Susannah Alvey and her family forward to Generation 11. Susannah married her first cousin James Alvey Jr., another grandson of Jesse Alvey, and they settled and lived their lives in the vicinity of Hardin County, Ky. Susannah and James were my great-great-great grandparents. Henry and Susannah were born in St Mary's County, but came to Kentucky as children when their parents Benedict and Mary Alvey migrated to Washington County about 1798. Both married in Kentucky and while their descendants live all over the United States and other parts of the world, many still reside in Kentucky today.

Jesse Alvey had three sons whose families left Maryland after the Revolutionary War and migrated to Washington County, Ky. Benedict/Bennett Alvey was the first to leave Maryland with his wife Mary and children Henry and Susannah and was documented as living in Washington County according to the 1799 tax list. Jesse’s son John Henry did not leave Maryland and come to Washington County until after his father’s death in 1803 and was listed on tax lists in 1807. John Henry's sister-in-law, Elizabeth “Betsy” ____ , wife of James Alvey Sr., who died before 1790, was also listed at the same time. They most likely they came to Kentucky together.

Elizabeth “Betsy” ____ Alvey was listed with her four children, James Jr., Charles, Philip and Catherine on the 1810 Washington County census. John Henry Alvey was listed with his wife and potentially nine children. The families of John Henry Alvey and the remaining children of James Alvey Sr. and Elizabeth “Betsy” ____ (Charles, Philip, and Catherine) will be detailed in upcoming issues.

Susannah and James Alvey Jr.

As briefly presented in part two of this series, Susannah and James Alvey Jr. were first cousins, grandchildren of Jesse Alvey (b. about 1730, St. Mary’s County, Md., d. 1803, St. Mary’s County) and Emerentia ____ . Susannah (b. after 1790, St. Mary's County, d. after 1850, Hardin County, Ky.) was a daughter of Benedict/Bennett Alvey (d. before 23 January 1826, Washington County, Ky.) and Mary ____ . James Alvey II (b. about 1785, St. Mary’s County, d. 1845, Hardin County) was a son of James Alvey Sr. and Elizabeth “Betsy” ____ .

James came to Washington County about 1807 with his mother, brother Charles and half-siblings Catherine and Philip, children of Jeremiah Burns.

Susannah and James were married by Catholic priest Charles Nerinckx in Washington County on 30 September 1815. They moved to Hardin County and, in 1829, purchased property on Billy’s Creek, near Colesburg, where they lived the rest of their lives.

James left a will when he died in 1845, but no death record for Susannah has been found. James gave land to his two sons, James and Benedict, with the provision that he and his wife were taken care of during the remainder of their lives. Because this land was not sold until 1855, I believe Susannah may have lived until about that time. However, no listing for her has been found in the 1850 census. As listed on the 1848 Hardin County tax list, the property had been split and listed in the names of James and Benedict. This may mean that Susannah died sometime after 1846 but before 1848. Maybe some evidence will show up at a future date. Susannenah consented to her son Benedict’s marriage on 6 January 1847.

It is believed that James and Susannah are buried on their farm, but no tombstone or death record has been found. Since they lived in the vicinity of St. Clare Catholic Church and cemetery, it’s possible they might be there, but with no legible tombstone.

After James died in 1845, his family moved closer to Elizabethtown and Rineyville. Many family members are buried in either St. John the Baptist Catholic Cemetery in the St. John community of Hardin County or St. James Catholic Cemetery in Elizabethtown. All were farmers for most of their lives. Around the turn of the 20th century, descendants began migrating north to Louisville and for Michigan, Colorado, and California to follow new job markets opening up in those states.

Susannah and James’ children were Mary Magdalene (b. 1817, Washington County, d. after 1870, probably in Harrison County, Ind., m. Benjamin S. Thornberry), Matilda Caroline (b. 1820 Washington County, m. 1. Henry Frances Cole, 2. Raymond French), Catherine (b. 1822, Washington County d. 10 January 1871 Hardin County), James III (b. 1824, Washington County, d. before 1890, Hardin County, m. 1. Mary A. Cole, 2. Elizabeth Brewer), Benedict (b. 15 March 1827, Washington County, d. 21 April 1901, Hardin County, m. Agatha Jane Cole), and Martha Ann (b. 10 November 1829, Hardin County, d. after 1880, m. Robert Simpson).

Descendants of Susannah Alvey and James Alvey Jr.

Generation Nine

Mary Magdalene Alvey

Mary Magdalene Alvey (b. 1817, Washington County, d. after 1870, probably in Harrison County, Ind.), a daughter of James Alvey Jr. and Susannah Alvey, married Benjamin S. Thornberry (b. 1810, Ky.), a son of Benjamin Thornberry and Eleanor Suttle, on 13 December 1833 in Hardin County.

The family moved to Indiana sometime before June 1845.

Mary and Benjamin’s nine children were Rebecca Harriet (b. 23 September 1836, Hardin County), William Thomas (b. before 6 January 1839, Hardin County, m. Sarah E. Brandenburg), James Henry (b. before 4 October 1840, Hardin County, m. Amanda M. Newman), John Harrison (b. 8 June 1845, Perry County, Ind.), Susan E. (b. 1847, Harrison County, Ind., m. Malachi Monk), Martha Catherine (b. 28 May 1850, Perry County, Ind.), Caroline (b. 1853, Ind., m. Philo Rothrock), John Rush (b. 1857, Ind., m. Lena Keller), and Bertha (b. after 1860).

Matilda Caroline Alvey

Matilda Caroline Alvey (b. 1820 Washington County), a daughter of James Alvey Jr. and Susannah Alvey, married 1. Henry Frances Cole (b. 23 December 1823, Hardin County, d. 16 September 1851 Hardin County), a son of William Cole and Mary Ellen Thornberry, on 1 January 1843 in Hardin County. She married 2. Raymond French (b. 1814, Ky.), a son of Thomas French and Ann Bowles, on 12 April 1853 in Hardin County. Matilda had no children. Her marriage to Raymond French was a second marriage for both of them. She was a stepmother to Raymond’s many children from his first marriage to Martha Ann Ryan.

James Alvey III

James Alvey III (b. 1824 Washington County, d. before 1890, Hardin County), a son of James Alvey II and Susannah Alvey, married 1. Mary A. Cole (b. about 1822, d. before 1845, Hardin County), a daughter of William Cole and Mary Ellen Thornberry, on 27 December 1842 in Hardin County. He married 2. Elizabeth Brewer (b. December 1826, Hardin County, d. 17 November 1901, Hardin County), a daughter of William Brewer and Eleanor French, on 8 September 1845 in Hardin County.

James and Elizabeth’s eight children—all of whom were born in Hardin County—were Henry Francis (b. before 25 March 1847, d. before 1860, Hardin County), Lorinda Ellen (b. before 3 November 1849), Martha Magdalen (b. 20 September 1851, m. Nathan N. Thornberry), William Romulodus (b.

James Blincoe Hill), Anna Luvina (b. 18 February 1865, d. 25 August 1896, Louisville).

Benedict Alvey

Benedict Alvey (b. 15 March 1827, Washington County, d. 21 April 1901, Hardin County), a son of James Alvey Jr. and Susannah Alvey, married Agatha Jane Cole (b. 4 February 1827, Hardin County, d. 12 January 1901, Hardin County), a daughter of William Cole and Mary Ellen Thornberry, on 6 January 1847 in Hardin County. Benedict and Agatha Jane's seven children were James William (b. 11 July 1848, Hardin County, d. 3 January 1927, Louisville, m. Sarah Elanore Neighbors), Susanna Mary (b. 26 March 1851, Hardin County, d. 1897, Hardin County, m. George Montgomery Warren), Louisa Agnes (b. 27 February 1854, Hardin County, d. 21 October 1884, Hardin County, m. John J. Coyle), Martha Appolonia (b. 12 February 1857, Hardin County, d. 13 August 1879, Hardin County), Minerva Catherine (b. 21 August 1860, Hardin County, d. 21 August 1945, Hardin County, m. This work is a series of essays tracing the ownership of a 137-acre farm in Union County, from “Lt. James,” the original owner of a 2,000-acre Revolutionary War grant, to the present two adjoining parcels of 91 and 45 acres. “Do not be disappointed if I drop a stitch here and there,” reads Mr. Simpson’s introduction, “I am not a professional historian.” That said, the book is filled with interesting and useful reminiscences and information about the people that once called the farm home.

Included are the stories of the families of Simeon Kuykendall, first to farm the land, Alf Lindle, and Greenberry Reynolds, in addition to the author’s Wynn and Simpson families. Illustrations include many drawings by the author, in addition to copies of family photos. The 14-page full-name index includes such surnames as Alvey/Alvy, Anderson, Barnett, Bohannon, Christian, Curry, Dodge, Dyer, Eddings/Eddins, Ewing, Farthing, Fleming, Gallaway, Graham, Hunter, Houston/Huston, Imboden, Ingram, Jameson/Jamison, January, Kanipe, Kilgore, Lamb, Lynn, Middagh, Mitchell, Norton, Nunn, Onan, Outen/Outten, Pierson, Pride, Quick, Quirey, Riddle, Roberts, Sellers, Smallwood, Tack, Taylor, Underwood, Vanetten, Vaughn, Waggoner, Wallace, Young, and Zechariah.

This reprint of the important and valuable 1887 work contains histories of Allen, Barren, Breckinridge, Edmonson, Grayson, Hardin, Hart, LaRue, Meade, Metcalfe, Monroe, Simpson, and Warren Counties, along with biographical sketches of notable citizens. Printed in a smaller, 6 by 9-inch format than the original, its pages are well-reproduced, as are the several included portraits. A new index by Nita F. Neblock is included behind the original index. This third volume, mistakenly referred to as an “edition” by the authors, is one of nine in the series, which was originally published from 1885 to 1888 in Chicago. The first volume (or “edition”) is a general history of the state. The others, including two separate volumes mistakenly labeled “Edition 8,” contain county histories and biographical sketches.

Primarily devoted to the bluegrass region, this work features a general regional history by Dr. Robert Peter, at the time chemistry professor at the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Kentucky (present University of Kentucky). Also included are histories of the region’s four counties and biographical sketches and portraits, and illustrations of notable residences. The reprint features a full-name index by Ella E. Lee Sheffield. Surnames include Allen, Ammerman, Baird, Banta, Campbell, Craig, Dalzell, Deaver, Evelth, Ewalt, Ferguson, Fithian, Gaines, Gano, Gassaway, Hedger, Ingels, Isgrig/Ishigg, Jacoby, Jameson, Kendall, Lair, Letton, Mann, Marsh, Nippert, Northcutt, Offutt, Ogden, Parrish, Penn, Quirt, Quisenbury, Ralston, Rankin, Sanford, Shawhan, Talbot/Talbott, Tebb, Utterback/Utterback, Victor, Vimont, Walls, Watson, Yelton, Yost, Zimmerman, and Zollars.

postpaid. Order from the author at P.O. Box 595, Paintsville, KY 41240-0595.)

As part of legislation establishing the Census Office of the U.S. Department of Interior on March 1, 1889, Congress directed that the 1890 census should include the “names, organizations and length of service of those who had served in the Army, Navy, or Marine Corps of the United States in the rebellion, and who are survivors at the time of said inquiry, and the widows of soldiers, sailors, or marines.” This work is a listing of existing 1890 veteran schedules of the eastern Kentucky counties of Bath, Bell, Boyd, Breathitt, Carter, Clay, Elliott, Fleming, Floyd, Greenup, Harlan, Johnson, Knott, Knox, Lawrence, Lee, Leslie, Letcher, Lewis, Magoffin, Martin, Mason, Menifee, Morgan, Owsley, Perry, Pike Powell, Rowan, and Wolfe.

Though directed to record only Union veterans, many enumerators included former Confederates and veterans of the War of 1812 and Mexican War. Each schedule contains the name of the veteran (or his widow) and his rank, company, regiment or vessel and dates of enlistment and discharge and length of service. Also included are post office addressed and any disability incurred in service and general remarks. Listings of widows can provide information about her life or remarriage, in addition to information about the veteran’s service. One widow, for example, knew only that her husband died at Anderson Prison. Enumerators often noted the battle or circumstance in which a death or disability had been incurred, such as “drowned off a Boat,” “shot by enemy in head, killed instantly,” or poisoned from improper vaccination.” Also included are several unit histories not in the original schedules.

As its title makes clear, this work is a history of the families of William E. Brown (1874-1918) and Katherine Mary Edwards (1869-1941), who were married on 23 December 1896 in Willisburg, Washington County. Brown was a great-great-grandson of John Sharp (1740-1830) and Ann Dooley (b. circa 1746) and Abraham Sharp (b. circa 1744, d. circa 1827) and Rebecca Armstrong (b. 1754). Edwards was a great-granddaughter of Thomas Edwards (b. circa 1748, d. circa 1810) and Elizabeth Dent, William Dicken, and William Sharp (1809-1886) and Elizabeth Ann Matthews (b. (1810-1881).

This work is a collection of genealogical and historical information pertaining to the first settlers of the upper part of Bucks County, Penn. Separate chapters are assigned to each family, and approximately 12,000 people are named and identified. Whole chapters are devoted to genealogies of the following families: Adamson, Ashton, Ball, Blackledge, Burson, Carr, Custard, Dennis, Edwards, Foulke, Green, Griffith, Hallowell, Heacock, Hicks, Iden, Jamison, Johnson, Kinsey, Lancaster, Lester, Levick, Lewis, Lott, McCar- ty, Miller, Morgan, Morris, Nixon, Penrose, Phillips, Rawlings, Roberts, Shaw, Strawn, Thomas, Thomson, Walton, and Zorns.

The genealogies commence with the first of the Bucks County line (usually during the period of the eighteenth century, but also earlier) and proceed, on average, through about eight generations. Marriages, births, deaths, places of residence and removal, and references to wills, deeds, and meeting records—in short, the nuts and bolts of family history—are amply set forth and documented. In addition to the abundant genealogical data, considerable biographical detail is made available to the researcher. The work is wonderfully designed throughout and is handsomely embellished with portraits, drawings, maps, and facsimile signatures.
Because of the loss of the 1890 federal census, records from the decade of the 1890s are important genealogical sources. The following record of the Corinth Deposit Bank lists customers and payees beginning with the bank’s founding. Dr. W.H. Daugherty – a prominent local landowner – served as first president of the bank, as well as a founding director. The record, along with others, was donated to the Kentucky Historical Society in 1999 by Mr. Giff Kollhoff of Corinth. It is in the possession of the KHS Special Collections department. For more information, contact Archivist Lynne Hollingsworth at (502) 564-1792 or via e-mail at: Lynne.Hollingsworth@ky.gov. The present 6th-class city of Corinth, named for the local Corinth Christian Church, was founded on the site of an old stagecoach stop. A post office was established there on October 22, 1868. The city was incorporated in 1878. Notes appear in parentheses. No changes have been made to original text, with the exception of the deletion of check numbers and daily totals and the addition of modern punctuation. Part Six appeared in Volume 38, Number 1.

Civil War Pass of Sally Harris, Camp Nelson, 1863

The document reproduced below, Sally Harris’s Civil War pass, was donated in June 2004 by June D. Levy of Louisville. Levy received it about 1955 from her mother, Hazel Newell Kuske, who had found it in an antique bureau bought at an estate auction in the vicinity of Hustonville, Lincoln County. Special thanks to KHS associate editor James Russell Harris for research assistance.

On July 5, 1864, in response to the raids of Confederate General John Hunt Morgan and others, President Lincoln declared martial law in Kentucky.

Martial law severely limited freedom of movement within the state, especially for African Americans who had flocked to Louisville. To alleviate overcrowding, sanitation, and other problems, Maj. Gen. John M. Palmer—commander of the Union Army’s Department of Kentucky—issued General Order No. 32 on May 11, 1865, which allowed Louisville blacks, including slaves, to move within Kentucky or cross the Ohio River to leave it.

General Order No. 49, issued on July 20, extended the policy to blacks throughout the state to improve conditions in the various refugee camps, including that at Camp Nelson, in Jessamine County. The order directed provost marshals or commanding officers of troops to issue passes allowing African Americans transportation to seek employment. The passes authorized former slaves and free blacks to pass “at will in search of employment, upon any railroad, steamboat, ferryboat, or other means of travel in the state of Ky. Or plying out of it from any point in it.” It also provided for the arrest, trial, or banishment from the state of anyone denying transportation to bearers of the passes. It was reported that in Lexington and Paris from July 22 to 28, the documents, “which negroes call their ‘free papers,’ and act accordingly, are issued as fast as they can be filled out—about 1,300 at Paris alone.”

The above pass was issued at Camp Nelson on August 9 by order of Colonel F. H. Bierbower, commander of the 124th U.S. Colored Infantry. It allowed “Miss Sally Harriss” to travel to Lexington “and elsewhere.” The printed form incorrectly cites General Order 32 (which only affected blacks in Louisville) instead of No. 49, which actually allowed such passes.

In a 13 February 1866 letter to Maj. Gen. C.B. Fisk, superintendent of the Freedmen’s Bureau in Kentucky and Tennessee, Bierbower said he issued 13,322 of the passes. The one issued to Sally Harriss was No. 8,392. Harriss has not been located in records.

Frederick Huber Bierbower (b. about 1834, Penn.), was a son of Jonathan Ayers Bierbower and Lucretia _____ (b. circa 1810, Penn.), who came to Kentucky with his parents about 1836. Jonathan Bierbower was a carriage manufacturer, who opened a shop on West Second Street in Maysville.

As an 18-year-old, Frederick is said to have been a member of Commodore Matthew Perry’s famous expedition to open trade with Japan. Bierbower brought back a Japanese fan as a souvenir of the 1852-54 expedition.

By 1860, his father was dead, and Bierbower was a 30-year-old lawyer living in his mother’s household. Also there were his siblings Mary C., 24 (b. about 1837, Ky.); Culver, 21 (b. about 1839, Ky.), a carriage trimmer; Frank, 17 (b. about 1843, Ky.); Ellen, 15 (b. about 1845, Ky.); Susan, 16 (b. about 1846, Ky.); Agnes, 11 (b. about 1849, Ky.); Hugh, 10 (b. about 1850, Ky.), Graw(?), 8 (b. about 1852, Ky.); and Fanny, 5 (b. about 1855, Ky.). Another sibling may have been Richard Bierbower, who was listed in the census as 23 (b. about 1837, Ky.) and a carriage maker, living in the household of carriage maker Joseph Allen, 27 (b. about 1833, Ohio). Allen’s real estate value was $5,000, and his personal estate was worth $10,000.

Bierbower supported the Union prior to the start of the Civil War, helping organize a meeting for the purpose at the Mason County Courthouse on December 10, 1860.

In the 1880 census, Bierbower (46, b. Penn., parents b. Penn.) was living in the Maysville hotel operated by John Heiser. His occupation was “U.S. Debt Collector.”

Major General John McAuley Palmer (b. 13 September 1817, Eagle Creek, Scott County, Ky., d. 25 September 1900, Springfield, Ill.) was a son of Louis Davies Palmer and Ann Hansford Tutt. Palmer lived in Kentucky before moving to Illinois in 1831. He was a founding member of the Republican Party and a personal friend of Lincoln.

Palmer served as commander of the Department of Kentucky from February 1865 to November 1866. Like his predecessor, Brigadier General Stephen G. Burbridge, Palmer became an object of scorn in his native state as he enforced martial law, African American rights, and orders prohibiting secessionists from participating in civil government or other activities.

In later life, Palmer served as governor of Illinois (1869-73) and—as a Democrat—U.S. senator (1891-97). He was the unsuccessful “Gold Democrat” candidate for the presidency in 1896.

Palmer married Matilda Ann Neely (b. 5 May 1828, Simpson County) on 20 December 1842. Their children were: John Mayo (b. 10 March 1848, Carlinville, Ill.), Mary E., Lucy J., Susan J., Elizabeth Ann (b. about 1845, Ill.), Margaret Ellen (b. about 1854), Harriet Malinda (b. about 1858), Thomas M. (b. about 1859), Jesse Lyon (b. 1 August 1863, Carlinville, Ill.), and Louis James (b. about 1865).
Sales of Forfeited Lands, 1845

Part Two

Beginning with the 29 April 1845 issue, the Frankfort Commonwealth published a list of forfeited lands from counties throughout Kentucky. The list is useful because it provides a snapshot of many landholders and/or owners from the statehood year of 1792 to 1843, including those who left the state. It also documents individuals who did not or were unable to pay their taxes. Though the text has been placed in table form, place names and other original information have been retained.

Sheriff’s Notice.

A LIST of non-resident lands forfeited to the State of Kentucky, for the non-payment of taxes, interest and cost due thereon, said lands lying in the county of Hancock, and State aforesaid, and will be sold in accordance with the law on that subject, for cash, on the 4th Monday in October next, at the Court House door in Hawesville, if not redeemed previous to that time:

The Kentucky Historical Society

The Kentucky Historical Society, founded in 1836, has long been the state’s storehouse of history. Today it is the home of the 167,000-square-foot Kentucky History Center in downtown Frankfort. The state-of-the-art facility, which opened in April 1999, is the centerpiece of a campus that offers numerous learning opportunities to students, historians, genealogists, and anyone else interested in Kentucky history.

Museums

The Kentucky Historical Society operates three unique sites in downtown Frankfort that tell the story of our state’s history. At the Frankfort facilities and through the Society’s outreach programs, the Kentucky story stirs the hearts of over a quarter-million people every year.

The Kentucky Military History Museum (left) houses a collection of artifacts from the state’s martial past. It was built in 1850 as the state arsenal. Union and Confederate troops fought to control it during the Civil War. The Old State Capitol, (right) completed about 1830, is a gem of Greek Revival architecture. Designed by Gideon Shryock, it was the first state capitol of its type west of the Appalachian Mountains. It is today operated as a museum and is open for tours.

Kentucky History Center—Home to the Society, this building contains the state history museum, changing exhibit gallery, research library, gift shop, rental facility, and the Society’s educational and publications programs.

Old State Capitol—Completed in 1830, this site is a national historic landmark. Its House and Senate chambers, graced by Kentucky paintings and sculpture, tell the story of state government in the commonwealth.

Kentucky Military History Museum—Two centuries of Kentucky’s military heritage are traced through an extraordinary collection of weapons, uniforms, flags, and photographs. Housed in the 1850 Old State Arsenal, the museum operates in conjunction with the Kentucky Department of Military Affairs.
Library & Special Collections

Thousands of researchers blaze their own trail through the historic landscape each year with the assistance of the Society’s research facilities. Here genealogists can trace an ancestor’s path aided by family histories, census, church, and cemetery records, family Bibles, and land ownership and military service records.

In addition, the Society’s Special Collections house hundreds of thousands of manuscripts, photographs, maps, rare books, oral histories, pioneer accounts, diaries, albums, personal recollections, and more—all helping researchers come face-to-face with Kentucky’s distinctive heritage.

Publications

The Society publishes books and periodicals that meet the needs of genealogists, historians, and scholars alike. The publications program produces two quarterlies: The Register, a journal of scholarly research in Kentucky history, and Kentucky Ancestors, a genealogical magazine providing statewide coverage for family history researchers. The Society also publishes The Chronicle, a membership newsletter offering information on Society events, exhibits, and programs.

Hours and Admission

Tickets will be sold at both the History Center and the Kentucky Military History Museum and will include admission for all three museums. No ticket required for genealogical research library and 1792 Store. Parking is FREE.

Collins, Rudy & Co.’s Kentucky Planing Mill operated in Maysville in the 1870s. The owners were Hiram H. Collins, John R. Rudy, and John I. Salisbury. The directory was presented to the Kentucky Historical Society by Hazel Spencer Phillips on January 1, 1966, in honor of her husband, William Mason Phillips (b. 21 May 1884, d. 9 July 1954).
VITAL STATISTICS

The Mercury, Carlisle, Nicholas County, January 1, 1891

MORTUARY COINCIDENCE—It is somewhat a coincidence that two men, who were not far from octogenarian age, having the same family name, died in adjoining counties last week. Henry Talbott died in this city on December 17th, aged 79 years, and his cousin, Robert Talbott, died in Carlisle on December 20th, aged 76 years. Henry Talbott and wife had lived together for 60 years, and Robert Talbott and wife 54 years on the day of his burial. They were both members of the Christian Church, and wives of each survive them. The total time of their married life was 114 years.—Kentuckian-Citizen.

In the circuit court at Liberty the case of Lawrence Brown, charged with the killing of Bud Riffe, a negro, in a court-room at Liberty, last June, was concluded, and resulted in a hung jury, nine of that body standing for acquittal and the rest for some degree of punishment. The line of defense was that the shooting was done while the prisoner was laboring under a period of emotional insanity, though he has acted in a very rational manner ever since the occurrence.

NEAR South Louisville, Lillie Van Arsdale, 16 years old, was struck by a train and killed while on her way to school.

January 8, 1891

BILL HALL MILLER, a Knox County desperado, while flourishing his pistol in the faces of John Stoner and his brother, was shot and killed by Stoner at Hindman.

WILLIAM HIGGINS, a prominent wholesale liquor merchant of Louisville, was killed at an early hour the other morning under peculiar circumstances. He was attempting to dismount from the front platform of a street car while the latter was in motion, when his foot slipped, spinning his body around and throwing his head under the wheels. The latter passed over his neck, breaking it. He died almost instantly.

The examining trial of James Ellis Brown for the killing of D.T. Farmer, during a difficulty at Scales' Mills, Christian County, recently, has closed, and resulted in a verdict of acquittal on the grounds that the deed was done in self-defense. Brown was at once released from jail. [See below.]

 DANIEL BONNER, a stockman of Lexington, was found dead in his room at the Stock Yards Hotel, Wichita, Kans., the other day. Morphine was the agent of destruction.

T.L. Hoon, aged 35 years, died very suddenly at his home in Bethel, Bath County. His death is a mystery, but some suppose that it resulted from morphine.

THOMAS FARMER and Ellis Brown, citizens residing near Scales Mills, Christian County, became involved in a quarrel over family affairs, when the former was killed with a fence rail by Brown. Both men became very angry, when … Brown drew a knife upon his opponent, who seized a rail and struck Farmer to the ground with it. Farmer arose and followed Brown, who struck him a second blow, knocking him down and inflicting fatal internal injuries. From which he died almost instantly. Brown made his escape and is still at large. [See above.]

Trimars Stassard shot and killed Lew Wallace at Louisville the other afternoon. Both colored.

J.E. Beck, a farmer residing west of Hopkinsville, was found lying in the highway, not far from his home, the other morning, frozen to death. He had been to a neighbor’s the day before, and returning home intoxicated after night, lost his way and falling down froze to death.

Harry J. Atkinson, a railroad brakeman, whose home is at Auburn, this State, chose two routes to commit suicide the other night at the Globe Hotel, St. Louis. He first tried morphine, which had no effect on his organism. He then took a dose of laudanum, and, getting into bed, sent a bullet crashing through his brain.

AT CYNTHIANA, Rodney Withers accidentally shot and killed a playmate, Jno. Atkinson. A flobert rifle was the weapon.

JACKSTOWN.
Born—To the wife of Walter Smith, a 9-pound boy.

WESTON.
Died. Dec. 31st, in Carlisle, our old neighbor Uncle Alfred Williams. The deceased was aged about sixty-one years, was brought from Virginia to ... this State when about eight years old, was bought by David B. Williams, of this county, who owned him until a few years before the war, when Melvin Metcalfe, who owned his wife, bought him to save a separation of man and wife. He was considered a good blacksmith in his day, remaining a faithful slave until freed by the events of the war. Uncle Alfred's word was as good as any man's bond for what he promised. He died leaving his wife and one son, quite a competency, which he had accumulated by honesty, industry and economy.

HOOKTOWN.
Mrs. Alex Taylor of Headquarters, died at her home Sunday morning, and was buried at Carlisle Monday.

BIRTHS.
CRAWFORD—To the wife of Wm. Crawford, on the 29th ult., a girl.
DONALDSON—To the wife of Fletcher Donaldson on the 6th inst., a boy.

MATRIMONIAL.
In Mason, on Thursday last, Malcolm Endicott, of this county, and Miss Eveline H. Anno, of Mason.
At the residence of Mrs. Eliza Wright, in this county, January 7th, by Rev. H.M. Scudder, Mr. Wm. R. McRohan and Miss Lide W. Finch.
In Cincinnati last week, Chas. M. Brooks, of Paris, and Miss Pearl Redmond, of Millersburg, formerly of this city.

DEATHS.
At his residence near the Deering Camp Ground, on Saturday last, Thos. Myers, Esqu., aged 81 years.
TALBOTT—Robt. Talbott peacefully fell asleep in Jesus, December 20, 1890, in his 76th year. His sickness was of short duration. A week prior to his death he was in his usual health. For about seven days he patiently endured the sufferings of acute pneumonia, until his strength, already enfeebled by old age, gave way, and death intervened. ...
The deceased had been married 54 years, lacking two days. The day on which he was buried (Dec. 22) was the 54th anniversary of his wedded life. To him and the companion of his long and happy married life were born eight children, five of whom still live. ...
Robt. Talbott lived in several communities, and everywhere his brethren and fellow citizens held him in highest esteem as a God-fearing and high minded man. He was quiet and unassuming in his manner of life, and so thoroughly unpretentious that he never strove to appear to be other than his real self. ...
The funeral services were held at North Middletown, where the deceased retained his church membership. ... Words of comfort were spoken by Eld. L. H. Reynolds and the writer, after which the remains were interred in the family lot in the North Middletown cemetery. ...
E.T.E.

In this city, on Sunday morning, January 4th, Mrs. Josephine Bush, the beloved wife of J.S. Bush, of Cincinnati, and daughter of Seth and Margaret McMahill, of this place. About four months since Mrs. Bush came home from Cincinnati to visit her parents. She was then, and had been for some time, suffering with a complicated throat and lung trouble. Four week ago she gave birth to a boy baby. From that time on she seemed to grow steadily worse—although there were occasional gleams of hope. ... Josephine McMahill was born in Greenfield, Ohio, and at the time of her death was 23 years and six months old. About 12 years since, her father—who had been a former citizen of Nicholas—moved to Carlisle to become one of our permanent citizens.
In her fourteenth year she joined the Baptist Church in this place, being then a member of its Sunday-School. She was also organist at times, both of the church and Sunday School. Within one year she became a wife, mother, and the bride of death. In the same church where her funeral obsequies were held, on the 16th of January 1890, she was married to Mr. J.S. Bush, then of Portsmouth, Ohio, but now a resident of Cincinnati.

Much sympathy for and interest in the little babe is felt—and many hopes that it may live for mother’s sake. Mr. Bush, the husband, seems well nigh heart broken—and for him and for all the members of the family—there is deep and general sympathy from the whole community.

Funeral services were held at the Baptist Church at 10 a.m. on Tuesday last, conducted by Rev. A.N. White, assisted by Revs. C.C. Cox, H.M. Scudder, W.T. Rowland and E.T. Edmonds.

The following gentlemen were the pall-bearers: John M. Donnell, C.C. Cox, C.B. Morford, Esla Kennedy, Clarence M. Howe, Henry Potts.

The following ladies and misses honorary pall-bearers: Anna Scudder, Lillie Scudder, Nannie Kimbrough, Alice Wilson, Killian Howe, Claudia Kennedy, Lizzie Parrish, Mary Tribble.

Flower Girls—Ada Peale, Lena Duncan.
Organist—Fannie Whaley.
J.A.C.

January 15, 1891

Mr. and Mrs. D.B. Carter (nee Ellen Mershon) of Richmond passed here yesterday, en route for Vanceburg on a visit. They were married yesterday morning.

SPROUT.
Chas. Gilvin and Miss Nannie Cline, of Little Flat, eloped to Aberdeen last Thursday, and were made one by Massie Beasley’s process.

Married—On the 1st inst., at the residence of the bride’s father, Chas. Hawkins, Mr. Rufus Dotson and Miss Carrie Hawkins. Chas. Cannon and Miss Fannie Hawkins attendants.

FOREST RETREAT.
Died—Infant daughter of Silas Linville, on Saturday nigh last, aged nine months.
Frank Johnson and lady, of Bath, were here Saturday and Sunday attending the burial of their little niece.

BIRTHS.
SMITH—On Saturday last, to the wife of Jos. A. Smith, a son.

MATRIMONIAL.
At Cincinnati last Sunday week, Dr. Eugene Hamilton, of Baltimore, and Mrs. Fannie Hurst, widow of the late Dr. Hurst, of Millersburg.

DEATHS.
On the 10th instant, Miss Gilky.
On the 9th, near this city, Mrs. John Brinegar.
On the 10th, near Oakland Mills, infant child of Silas Linville.
On the 8th, near Headquarters, Mr. Martin Gaunee, aged 92 years.
J. Nick Marsh, of Bourbon, died last Sunday.
He married a sister of Mrs. John P. Norvell, of this city.

Whereas, The Farmer’s Alliance has by the Providence of God lost, by death of our brother, J.C. McCray, a good and true member, and his family a kind husband and father, Resolved, That we offer this tribute to his memory and extend to his bereaved family our heartfelt sympathy in their great sorrow.

Abstracts from the Louisville Daily Courier, December 27, 1866

Transcribed by Dr. Melba Porter Hay

Through the efforts of Ivor Lois Wetherby, the Kentucky Historical Society recently received a collection of Kentucky newspapers from Jane McMurtry Allen of Lake Worth, Fla. Allen is a great-great-granddaughter of George Clark, original owner of the newspapers. The newspapers are now under the stewardship of the KHS special collections department. For more information, contact archivist Lynn Hollingsworth at (502) 564-1792 or via e-mail: Lynne.Hollingsworth@ky.gov. The Louisville Daily Courier was edited by Walter N. Haldeman. Its offices were located at 109 North Jefferson Street, between Third and Fourth. Annual subscription for the daily paper was $12, for the triweekly $6, and for the weekly, $2. Some changes have been made in capitalization and punctuation to conform to modern usage.

In the editorial of the December 27th issue, the editor noted: “We visited the Bank of Kentucky yesterday to examine the vault door and safe which has recently been built by our fellow-citizen F.W. Merz, and we can safely say that it is the most complete and the strongest job of the kind in the city, if not in the country.” The editorial extols both the materials and workmanship, saying that the cashier of the bank, Mr. Barrett, had visited “all of the large safe establishments in New England” to find the best safe in the country but had concluded that “no one could compete with Mr. Merz in building burglar and fireproof safes.”

The editorial page noted that the Louisville Furniture Manufacturing Company, located at the northeast corner of Ninth and Jefferson streets, had recently been refitted and currently has 125 employees and a payroll of about $2,000 per week.

Listed under the title “Christmas Accidents” was the story of an orphan, “about fourteen years of age, by the name of John Kelser,” who worked at the plow factory of B.F. Avery. Kelser was injured when a gun he held in his hand exploded when another boy pulled the trigger. It caused a severe wound in the boy’s hand that would keep him from working for many weeks. Another fourteen-year-old, Willie Haddox, who resided with his mother on Third Street, near Walnut, was burned “in a shocking manner” when a pistol he was carrying in his pocket discharged “and the powder, which was in the same pocket” exploded and set fire to his clothes. “His limbs and abdomen were burnt to a crisp and his breast and skin badly scorched. . . . It is feared he will not recover.” James Burns, another fourteen-year-old, who lived with his parents on Preston Street, was injured when a firecracker exploded in his hand. Also, on Market Street between Clay and Shelby, a boy by the name of John Elbert had one of his hands badly torn by a pistol when he tried to prevent it from discharging. “One or two of his fingers were torn off. . . . This happened about noon on Christmas, and terminated his pleasures for the remainder of the day.”

It was reported that St. Paul’s church provided a Christmas dinner “for the benefit of the children connected with the mission school.” The Rev. Geo. D.E. Mortimer gave a short address. The mission school was located at the corner of Duncan and Seventeenth streets.

On Christmas day, “a number of the many of friends of Elder Thomas P. Haley, the eminent and popular pastor of the Second Christian church in this city, afforded him and his family an agreeable surprise . . . by repairing to his residence . . . with a bountiful supply of Christmas fixings and the good things of life.” This “storming party was under the charge of Mrs. Kemp Stuckey, better known in the church as ‘Little Sister,’ a very exemplary Christian woman.”
The son of "Chas. Welker, who resides on East Walnut street, was run over by the street cars on East Walnut, between Campbell and Wenzel streets, yesterday morning. His left leg was so badly mangled as to necessitate amputation. The car driver, Joe Kendall, was arrested by the police, and the case will be disposed of to-day."

J.M. Armstrong on Main Street "is now offering his elegant stock of men’s and boy’s clothing at great sacrifices."

Notice was given that Sherrill & Shuttleworth, successors to Waller, Sherrill & Co., No. 292 Main street, near Eighth,” had “the best line of writing desks and work boxes in the city.”

Samuel Gill, superintendent, and Henry Steffer, general ticket agent, announced the daily schedule for the Louisville & Frankfort and the Lexington & Frankfort Railroads.

Jones, Tapp & Co., “Manufacturers and wholesale dealers in Clothing,” announced that the company had taken into partnership John H. Duke and had “largely increased facilities.” Other partners listed were: Chas. S. Jones, Pres. S. Tapp, and John H. Leathers.

“Jefferson Saw-Mills, On River, bet. Wenzel and Cabell, M. Woods Ferguson & Co.,” manufacturers and dealers “in all kinds of wood products, announced that “We have great facilities for sawing bridge timber, railway ties and stringers, for which we solicit orders.”

The office of J. Wellman at 120 Third Street near Jefferson advertised that it would provide money “for a few days or weeks” in exchange for “stocks, bonds, jewelry, silver-ware, or any other valuables taken as security.”

Robert Biggs, “plumber, gas and steam fitter,” at “No. 76 South side Green, above Third Street” offered for sale “gas fixtures, gas shades, bath tubs, wash-stands, hydrants, water closets, bum horse and brass work.”

Sproule & Mandeville, “No. 124 and 126, corner Main and Fourth streets, under the National Hotel” advertised that the store carried “extra large size garments” and “the best shirt that is made.”

Civill & Calvert announced that they intended
“to sell every Bible in their house by January 1, 1867. Call early for great bargains.”

T. Anderson & Co. announced that at its “closing sale to-day, an invoice of assorted furs, an invoice of 51 fine assorted ladies’ cloaks; also, 150 pair fine 10 and 12 ½ bed blankets.”

Wharton & Judah, “wholesale and retail dealers in all kinds of furniture and mattresses,” solicited “the Louisville’s Main Street in the 1840s. Having reached city status in 1828, Louisville in the 1840s was a growing, rambunctious place dominated by merchants and—nearer the river—warehouse operators and tavern-keepers. Author Charles Fenno Hoffman described “large and airy” shops with “a very showy display of goods” There were “numerous drays continually passing to and fro, the concourse of well-dressed people in the streets and the quantity of river-craft in front of the town.” The influence of Henry Clay and the local merchants had turned Louisville away from the Democratic Party in favor of the Whigs, which virtually ruled local politics for nearly a quarter-century.

Tombstone Inscriptions, Jefferson and Oldham Counties

The following appeared in Volume 27 of the Register of the Kentucky Historical Society in January 1929. The transcriptions were done by Alice E. Trabue, then chairwoman of historical research for the Colonial Dames Society. Trabue (b. Frankfort, Ky., d. 16 August 1961, Louisville) was author of the book A Corner in Celebrities, which influenced the decision to save several historic homes in downtown Frankfort. She was an honorary vice president of the Society in the 1920s and 1930s. Though the information may not appear exactly as it did on the tombstones, no changes have been made to the original Register text.

The Kentucky Historical Society’s collection includes an album of cabinet photographs and other images that may have belonged to Mrs. Agnes Willson Major (1889-1966) or one of her relatives. The image at right, taken from a small tintype probably made in the early 1860s, was found tucked into the album’s backing. Below, an 1890s cabinet photograph of a man identified as Atilla Green. He may or may not have been Atilla L. Green, who died in Franklin County on 13 July 1951 at age 84 or the Atilla Green identified as the son of Mrs. George Green in the 22 July 1910 issue of the Frankfort State Journal.
